A. E. MICHAEL'S,
A GOOD PLACE TO TRADE.

Mail Order Buzzards.

In applying for information relative to press clipping services furnished by the Pacific Press Bureau, of Vancouver, a large mail order concern in the Middle Western States says: "We would like to receive information regarding the country papers of British Columbia that do the best advertising, and data regarding towns most likely to prove profitable for our mail order business, as we intend opening a wide campaign for new customers. We can sell cheaper than the country stores and give better service. We are out for more business."

And there you have it—the mail order buzzard who seeks to compete with the local merchant and grab local money for commodities which can be purchased at home. Of course the distant mail order people want information on towns that are not interested in advertising in the home paper shows quite clearly that they have no hope of competing with the local merchants who carry a regular message in the home paper.

Two lessons are conveyed in this: One is to trade at home and keep the money from getting away from the district, and: The other is the necessity for advertising by the local merchant if he wants to gain and retain home support.

Up to the 5th of the month the crops around here were rather backward, but since the big showers the growth has been phenomenal in some cases. What Of Canada's Future?

One day recently the writer of this weekly article read two divergent views of Canada's progress during the past few years. One was pessimistic; the other quite optimistic. Yet there was much of truth in both, altogether neither writer appeared to take into consideration the effects of the Great War on the progress and development of the Dominion.

The pessimistic note was sounded by Miss Agnes Laut, well-known writer and lecturer. She is not at all pleased with Canadian progress, believes that sectionalism is life, and that Canadians are not living up to their possibilities. Declaring that she is frankly very depressed about Canadian conditions, Miss Laut states that what this country needs just now is a ringing message of optimism, founded on fact, and that she cannot give "all Canada's mental outlook changes toward the world."

"I used to think," continues Miss Laut, "it was economic pressure prevented Canada measuring up to her unequalled inheritance of great natural wealth. Now I know it isn't. It is your lack of dedication to the ideal in which your nation was conceived and born—He shall hold dominion from sea to sea." Instead of that I see Canadian sectionalism growing. And then Miss Laut dwells on the exodus of Canadians to the United States, and the fact of a population of only nine millions whereas, she says, Canada ought to be a nation of 40 to 60 millions, humming with prosperity that could be heard across the world.

The opposing, and more optimistic view is presented in articles appearing in Toronto Saturday Night, which recalls the prediction of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier that the Twentieth Century would be Canada's Century. Sir Wilfrid made this prediction in the days when Canada was emerging from a long period of halting growth into an era of amazing progress—an era, 1898 to 1910, which even Miss Laut says was Canada's one era of "humming prosperity."

Almost one-quarter of that century has passed, and what does the record disclose? Toronto Saturday Night finds in the progress of Canada during the last twenty-five years a conclusive answer that thus far the Dominion has lived up to its title of being "The Country of the Twentieth Century." It notes that Canada has become in fact, as well as in promise, the controlling factor in the world's wheat trade—one of the giants of international commerce; it draws attention to Canada's astonishing advance in the production of pulp and paper; it refers to the extension of Canada's manufacturing activities in countless directions until today the Dominion is ranked high among the industrial nations of the world; it cites the tremendous expansion in trade and commerce to a figure which few business men would have imagined or dared to prophesy twenty or even fifteen years ago.

But what of the future? Unquestionably, and notwithstanding the growth of the past twenty-five years, encouraging in many respects as that growth undoubtedly is, Canada is yet a long way from being the country it ought to be, and Nature, with its bountiful gifts, intended it should be. What is the reason? Is it sectionalism and lack of a great national ideal, as Miss Laut says, or is it the economic pressure of a great and highly organized nation to the south in which Canadians can find a home without the disabilities of an unfamiliar language and customs which most emigrants from one country, to another suffer, or is it Canada's somewhat rigorous climate, or is there some lack of initiative and courage on the part of Canadians in applying themselves to the development of the Dominion's great wealth of natural resources?

It would be idle to deny that there is too much sectionalism in Canada. The fact of two races, two official languages, two great opposing religious groups, necessarily tends toward sectionalism. This is further accentuated by the geography of Canada which divides the Dominion into two economic groups, east and west. Time and development alone can fully overcome these obstacles, and they are being overcome. Racial and religious animosities are not nearly so acute as they were a quarter of a century ago. Notwithstanding the attraction of the United States, Canada's population has increased by nearly four millions since the Twentieth Century dawned, and as the Dominion grows and develops, and opportunities are thereby increased, the attraction of the United States will steadily lessen.

Canadians have displayed courage and initiative, and for a nation of few people scattered over half a continent they have remarkable achievements to their credit. Nevertheless it must be admitted that our capitalists of finance and industry have not exerted themselves as they should, nor taken full advantage of the great opportunities which were theirs to develop and bring prosperity to their country. There is room for vast improvement here.

Canadians should develop a national ideal. They should be more optimistic regarding Canada's future, because, without doubt, the Dominion faces a career, as Toronto Saturday Night puts it, in which the period of economic youth and growth has still a long and promising course to run.

Canada As A Wheat Exporter

Dominion Is Assuming An Extremely Important Position, As A Wheat Exporting Country

That Canada is assuming an extremely important position as a wheat exporting country is strikingly illustrated by comparison with the volume of wheat exports from the United States. Last month, Canada shipped more than 41,000,000 bushels, in comparison with exports of 3,431,000 bushels from the United States. It is also interesting to note that four times as much Canadian as American wheat left American ports last month.

The 200-kilowatt transmitting apparatus by which the British Government hopes to inaugurate wireless telephony conversations with America will be installed about the end of August at the Rugby station, according to present plan. It is hoped to begin the experiments during the following month or early in October.

Speaking in the British House of Commons, Postmaster-General Harcourt stated that experiments were in progress to test the possibility of establishing commercial telephone wireless between England and the United States. "Spasmodic communication," said Mr. Harcourt, "has been achieved over extremely long distances, but the aim of the experiments which are now being conducted is to give a reliable and continuous service."

Railway companies operating in Alberta have shipped a total of 152,615,776 bushels of wheat between September 1 of last year and May 21 of this year. From this must be deducted about 20,000,000 bushels to allow for the quantity received from points in Saskatchewan which are included in Alberta division of the C.P.R., and to allow also for duplication in handling of grain coming off branch lines to main transcontinental lines.

THE SYMPTOMS OF IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

Show in Pale Faces, Tired Feeling and Breathlessness

People who are pale, languid, with palpitation of the heart and shortness of breath at slight exertion are suffering from this impure blood. If they have the resolution to take the right remedy and stick to it, they will find new health and strength. The remedy that can always be relied upon is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. With every dose they improve and invigorate the blood, and this new blood means health and strength. Mrs. A. Griffith, Plover, Minn., is one of the many thousands who have proved the value of these pills. She says: "I was so badly run down in health that I was almost bedfast. The least exertion would leave me breathless. I suffered from headache, aching back-aches, and had no appetite. I could only drag about the house and found my light housework almost impossible. I tried several remedies but they did not do me a particle of good. Then a friend called on Dr. Williams and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I had finished the second box I began to feel better and was helping me. By the time I had taken four boxes more I was a well woman and every symptom of my trouble had disappeared. It would not be possible for me to say too much in favor of this medicine, and I always recommend it to run-down people, and have seen it prove just as satisfactory in other cases."

If you are weak and run-down you can begin getting new strength today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by writing to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

In The Shadows

The Dark Cloud That Looms Over Stricken Europe

Europe, with three times as many soldiers as before, that war, with three times as many nations, with an innumerable increase in the fighting issues, is being gradually moved forward an eventual international decision. The policies of the present day contain all the elements of an other destructive war. Europe cannot endure as a purely militarist equation. It cannot succeed economically with its existing barriers of frontier, language, fear, hate and financial instability. The greatest of all the obstacles to unification is language, and it is difficult to see at present how it can be overcome. Fortunately, underneath the surface many noble forces are at work, which, in time, may lessen the whole. But their success will only be assured when the official policies of the nations have undergone a radical change—Natal Advertiser.

In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills are wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Discover Bison Herd

Two Thousand Buffalo Found In Slave Lake District

There were reports from Indians and hunters, a little time ago that the bison still existed in certain districts of the Canadian west, but it was supposed that the observers had made a mistake about the kind of animals they had seen, and that these were not the true bison. Finally, the Government sent an expert naturalist to visit the region, and he has returned with the news that a herd of wild bison, the real genuine animal, as big and strong as the bison of the early days is living in the country between the Peace River, the Slave, and the Caribou Mountains. There are 2,000 of them, and their numbers are growing.

So the Canadian Government has assigned to these four-footed citizens of the Dominion a park of plain and woodland, well watered by rivers and over 10,000 square miles in extent, where protected against all intruders, they may flourish and multiply and range at their own wild will.

Corn cannot exist when Holloway's Corn Remover is applied to them, because it goes to the root and kills the growth.

Canadian Flour Exports Canadian flour exports during the month of May exceeded those of the United States. During the month 1,057,497 barrels of Canadian flour were exported, while those of the United States totalled 957,504 bbls.

"Oh, Sergeant Scarlet, please to keep an eye open for my merry brother along Rideau Street, or whatever you call the thoroughfare which passes your headquarters."

"And I'll have him paged at the Chateau Laurier and ask for him out at Britannia Park," he managed to answer in terms of the city of her schooling. But he had no heart for the jest, mindful of the change that soon must come to his happy mood.

He entered the police shack by the back door and looked in for a moment on Olespe. His prisoner from Lady Franklin oblivious of his fate, seemed to revel in the luxury of the guard room's warmth. The sergeant went through and out the front way.

"Rideau Street, indeed," ran his thoughts. "What a name for that street through the snow in Armistice!"

At that, Moira showed that she knew her Ottawa, for Rideau is the street on which face the red brick headquarters of the Royal Mounted. Would that she had never left the capital. Would that he could wait her home again, sacrifice though that would be in this ice-bound isolation!

Straight to Avic's hut he went and broke the seal upon the door, as was his right. Again his eyes were upon all that remained of her "merry brother," and he wondered about death and the hereafter and various things that never should enter a mounted mind—nor when he's stationed north of Sixty-six.

Then, suddenly, his eyes seemed to open as though a mote had been cast from each. Perhaps this was effected by the magic of Moira's charm and beauty. Certainly he saw details that had not impressed him the previous afternoon.

As might a wolverine in defense of her young, he pounced upon the silver felt that lay on the sleeping bench beside the murdered youth—lay in his hands as to indicate its purchase had already been negotiated. He studied the set of the fur and sniffed at the tangle on the inner side. His eyes widened as he held the beautiful exhibit before him, and realized the possibilities that were opened up by this definite clue.

"Magic skin," he murmured half aloud after the fashion of men who find themselves often alone in the wilderness. "You widen the mystery; may you help to close it!" Gently, without shrinking from the cold touch, he removed the last clitch of O'Malley's fingers from the black fox—probably the pelt of ostensible contention. Close examination of this showed the same conditions to exist.

Neither of the toxes had been trapped in the present winter; both had been cured at least a year.

"Magic skin," he repeated, and breathed a wish too fervent for utterance alone in the hut where he stood alone.

In the act of wishing, memory put its finger on him. There came to mind that famous tale of Balzac's "The Magic Skin." The story dealt with the hide of an ass which, when the dog was unlit, it shrank away till the greedy owner was threatened with the disappearance of his magic possession.

Perhaps Seymour had best cease wishing. But he recalled he had a pair of magic skins in hand, never defiant of the venerable myth, and wished again, more fervently even than before that it would fall to his lot to solve the deepened mystery of the Oliver O'Malley murder.

Opening the pea jacket of his winter uniform, he tucked both furs beneath his tunic. Cloning and rescaling the hut, he strode back to the police station. Had he intended to appropriate the silver and black treasures for his own gain, he scarcely could have hidden them more successfully.

CHAPTER VI.

Requid For The Law

Nowhere in the civilized world, perhaps, is there more respect paid to the coroner and his inquests than in the Dominion of Canada. This regard is not confined to the settled provinces, but reaches beyond the Arctic Circle even to the farthest post of the Royal Mounted in latitude 75—Eskimoe Island, on the edge of the Polar Sea. This afternoon in Armistice was being devoted to the ancient formality of the law.

As one of the miners, brought in by Constable La Marr from Prospect to serve as jurymen, put it in half-hearted protest to Seymour:

"You red coats would hold an inquest at the North Pole if word came to you that some one was violently dead up there."

In his capacity as coroner, Sergeant Seymour first called the inquest over Mrs. Olespe, whose Eskimo name was too complicated with suturals for English pronunciation. Upon chairs and one of the bunks in the living room of the post, sat the jury—the three gold hunters from Prospect and Factor Kazmark. At a table beside his sagger was Constable La Marr, acting as clerk of court.

The prisoner, more stolid than usual, was brought in from the guard room and planted on another of the bunks beside Koplock, the interpreter who regularly served the Arctic Trade.

Seymour's first difficulty was to make certain that Olespe understood the warning that had been given him at the time of his arrest, for he had not entirely trusted the ability of the volunteer translator who had served him up North.

"Ask him if he knows who the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are," was the first address to the interpreter. There followed verbal explosions back and forth.

"Olespe says they are the rich men of the country," reported the interpreter.

Shrugging his shoulders over the apparent hopelessness of the situation, Seymour let Olespe ask him what he thinks the police came into the country for.

"To make us unhappy," came the report presently.

"In what way—unhappy?" Feeling that he was making progress, the sergeant got to the vital point. "Ask him what he thinks what I put him under arrest!"

"He says," translated the interpreter, "you told him he'd get hurt if he talked too much."

Seymour decided to let it go at that and led the way to the outbuilding used as morgue. There Olespe identified the remains of his wife, which had been muddled so many snowy miles because there was no possibility of finding a white jury nearer. The Eskimo said indifferently that this translated into "She no good wife."

Back in the station the sergeant told of his investigations at the scene of the crime, listed possible witnesses and summarized their version of a tragedy all too common among the Eskimo who are prone to the menage a trois. The jury promptly brought a verdict against Olespe, and Seymour, in his capacity of magistrate, held him to trial.

They were ready then for the second case of the day, the formal inquiry into the death of Oliver O'Malley. As Kazmark was to be the most important witness, a change was made in the jury by substituting for him the recently arrived missionary. With these four and his constable clerk, Seymour went down the trail to the hut which Avic and Olespe occupied. There Kazmark elected to stick by the stove at the post until the jury returned, named the coroner-sergeant, secreted his revolver, and began to eat, not missing the fox-felt clues which he had appropriated that morning.

Kazmark and the Eskimo relative who had loaned Avic the hut, gave the only testimony. This the jury held sufficient on which to return a verdict against the fox hunter and when the fact had been duly recorded the coroner's court was adjourned.

The saddest task of the day was at hand—one from which these strong men shrink, but which none was ready to shirk. Presently a strange procession came up the trail from the hut of tragedy. In the lead was the police team of "malamutes" with La Marr beside the foremost dog, holding him by leash to a dignified pace.

They drew a sled carrying a blanket ed burden. This vehicle Seymour steered with the aid of a gee-pole. The prospectors and Kazmark brought up in the rear with bowed heads.

The way led eventually to the newly opened Mission House at the door of which Morrow met them. The dogs were unlit, but taken away by La Marr. The others picked up the sled and carried it into one of the bedrooms. From another room could be heard stifled sobs and words of comfort.

Moira O'Malley knew, then, that her sister's rush into the Frozen North, whatever its real object, had been in vain. The missionary's wife had broken the news of death without the real detail and now was comforting her.

On returning to the post, Seymour was momentarily surprised to see that the police dog, which had been taken to another sled—this one lightly loaded. The native hostler was holding them in waiting. "Mad he intended to appropriate the silver and black treasures for his own gain, he scarcely could have hidden them more successfully."

"After Avic. I'm just waiting for you to issue the warrant. You must remember," he said.

"But why tonight?"

The constable gave him an impatient glance. "I can make that Eskimo camp on Muskox to-night; I'll be that far on my way. Haven't we lost time enough through my mistake?"

It took but a moment for Seymour to issue the warrant charging one, Avic, Eskimo, with the murder by strangulation of Oliver O'Malley, which was in accord with the verdict.

"Aye—get me man!"

"Not that," said the superior with a frown. "Is 'Never Was First'?" See that you bring Avic back alive. There's more depends on that than you know."

The constable looked startled. "You don't mean—Why it's an open and shut case. The coroner's jury—"

"Bring Avic back alive, that's all. Good Luck."

La Marr squared himself for a formal salute and went out into the gathering dusk. He had his orders.

Triumph Of Young Architect

British Boy, Twenty-Two, Designed Big Liverpool Cathedral

The triumph of a youthful British architect was crowned by the construction of the Liverpool Cathedral, in the presence of King George and Queen Mary. The cathedral was designed by Gilbert Scott when he was only twenty-two years old. When completed it will rank as one of the largest in the world, being surpassed in size only by St. Peter's in Rome and the Cathedral of Seville in Spain.

It is the third Anglican cathedral to be built in England since the Reformation. Scott's design, which represented his first work as an architect, won the prize in a competition in which more than a hundred architects had entered.

St. George's Hall, in Liverpool, held to be the finest example of Greek architecture in this country, was designed by the late Harry Lonsdale Elmes when he was twenty-three years old. Ralph Knott represents another example of youthful achievement in architecture. He planned the County Hall, in which the London County Council now meets, when he was twenty-nine.

Often in the endless evenings, while intermittent blizzards raged about the shattered windows, he would stare at the black and silver pillars. From various angles he would argue their bearing on the case. More than ever was he assured that they were not of recent trapping. The fur was that of animals which had been through a long, icy winter—only when rabbits had been plentiful. This was not a rabbit winter on the arctic prairies east of the Mackenzie.

These particular fogs had been trapped in the early spring, or he was no judge of fur quality. That this spring had not been the present one was shown by the seasoned state of the tanning. However, this tanning was of Indian goods rather than that of Indian goods rather than that.

Every Eskimo has a flock of cousins. He had visited several in the immediate vicinity who claimed more or less of that relationship to the missing Avic. He had examined the work of their women on furs. A pronounced difference in process seemed evident to him.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down had no appetite and was nervous. I had been told that Mrs. W. took care of me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting stronger. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Briggs, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Incorporated), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

THE SENATE HAS FINISHED WITH BRANCH LINES

Ottawa.—The Senate finished with the Canadian National branch lines in passing the remaking bill, providing for a two mile line in Quebec. The programme passed in the House comprised 26 bills. Of this number, in the Senate, eight have been killed and the remainder passed. Those killed represent twelve million dollars of the cost, and about a third of the projected mileage.

The province that suffers most is Saskatchewan. While some lines there are to be gone ahead with, two which are particularly desired—the Turf and the Badville—branches fell by the wayside. They were two that the C.N.R. had in its most preferred list, and in regard to which the prospects were considered most promising. Scores of protests have come to Ottawa about this action, said to be discouraging in a peculiar degree to the settlers of the affected localities.

As stated before, it does not appear that at this late date any efficient remedy can be applied to overcome the adversity this year. All bills have to go to the Senate, and even if the Government made a special vote for these lines and put them in a separate supply bill, it would in all likelihood encounter the same fate. It is possible that through guarantees some work may be started this year, but of this there is no certainty. The present outlook is that the Senate's action is deadly for 12 months at least, but nothing can be done meanwhile, the developing wave of indignation should produce such a reaction as to cause some favorable action next session.

Believe Coast Indian Victim Of Foul Play

Well Known Chief of Squamish Nation Dies at Vancouver
Vancouver.—Chief Jimmy Harry, one of the best known chiefs of the Squamish Nation, is dead, and police are investigating the possibility of foul play. The Indian was picked up in the east and of the city in an unconscious condition from head injuries and sent to the hospital. Recently an award of more than $8,000 was made to the Indians of Chief Harry's reserve by a bridge construction company for use of reserve property and police believe that robbers attacked the Indian hoping to find a sum of money on his person.

Boston.—The liquor treaty recently signed with Great Britain under which a vessel carrying liquor, and within an hour's steaming distance of the United States coast, may be seized, is expected to be tested as a result of the capture of the schooner, Frances Louise.

British Millers Forced To Advance Price Of Flour

London.—The slight increase in the price of flour since May first is blamed upon Canada. Gambling in wheat futures is said to be responsible for the rise, together with the expectations for a late and smaller crop this year. English millers declare that they are forced to raise the price to meet the increase in the price of wheat, which is, they say, the direct result of manipulations on the Chicago and Winnipeg grain exchanges. Since the beginning of May the price of flour has advanced more than six shillings a sack.

Alpine Club Will Camp In Rockies

Canadians Expect Members From England and U.S. to Attend Winnipeg.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Alpine Club will be held at the foot of Mount Robson, north of the city, on Thursday, July 31, according to information reaching Winnipeg members of the club. The Alpine Club camp opened this year on July 22 and will close on August 4, and it is expected that about 150 persons in attendance, a number will be from Winnipeg and other Western Canada points.

Outlying camps are to be placed at the base of the Coleman glacier and on Cabinet Creek, to give access to Moose Pass and the uplands surrounding this region. A camp will also be placed at timber line on Mount Robson, in charge of Conrad Cain, celebrated guide, who led the ascent of Mount Robson in 1912. This high pass will be for the purpose of facilitating attempts to reach the peak of this, the highest mountain in the Canadian Rockies.

It is anticipated that one or more members of the Alpine Club of England will be in attendance, and large parties are expected to be present from various United States points. The climbers will go into camp from Mount Robson station, which is on the main line of the Canadian National Railway.

Postal Employees' Troubles

No Change in Terms of Reinstatement Has Been Made

Toronto.—No change in terms of reinstatement of the postal employees who went out on strike was made as a result of the visit of the Postal Federation officers at Ottawa, it was announced when the officers returned to this city. The executive of the federation will hold a meeting at which the officers' report will be discussed.

"There is no change," said one of the officials, and there is nothing to be said at the present time.

"If there is a possibility of further trouble,"

"I can not say. There is nothing to tell at the present time."

Plan Reception For Squadron Crew

London.—A movement has been started and is receiving encouragement to have the crews of the special service squadron take part in a triumphal march, through the streets of London in order to give citizens of the empire metropolis an opportunity of welcoming them after their tour-round the world.

Dead Bandit's Brother Sentenced

Winnipeg.—Mike Kusman, a brother of Jim Kusman, who was shot and killed when he refused to surrender to the police, was sentenced in police court to six years in the penitentiary following his conviction "on two charges of shopbreaking and carrying a revolver."

$5,000,000 For Vancouver

Ottawa.—The bill providing for advancing $5,000,000 to the Vancouver Harbor Commission for work on terminal facilities was given third reading in the House of Commons. The Toronto-Vladivostok Bill also received third reading after considerable discussion.

Canada Represented

London.—Senator N. A. Belcourt, of Ottawa, arrived as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary for the Dominion of Canada at the Inter-Allied conference which opened here July 16.

For Imperial Preference

LORD DERBY, who, in addressing the congress of the empire chambers of commerce, expressed the opinion that policies of the component parts of the empire ought to conform and that where any tariffs were imposed, imperial preferences should be granted.

Prohibition Is Defeated

Saskatchewan Votes For Government Control Of Liquor

Regina.—Prohibition in Saskatchewan was decisively defeated as a result of the plebiscite, and a substantial majority was registered in favor of Government control of the sale of liquor.

Prohibition was defeated in all the seven cities of the province, the majority in favor of a change in the liquor system varying from Regina's 5310 to 56 in North Battleford.

It is anticipated the Provincial Legislature will meet early in the fall—probably some time in October—to pass the necessary implementing legislation changing the liquor law of the province. Until the change has been actually effected the Attorney-General has made it plain there will be no relaxation in the enforcement of the Saskatchewan Temperance Act.

Doukhobors Badly Burned In Fire

Eleven In Nelson Hospital Fought For Lives

Nelson.—No human lives were lost, though 34 horses probably perished, in the Doukhobor fire here. The four missing Doukhobor woodmen have been found. Eleven badly burned Doukhobors are in the Nelson hospital, mostly burned about the head. When the fire overtook the score or more men at Camp Number 2, some took to the creek, immersing themselves, and some to the flames. Then the flame was burned higher up, its flow stopped and the men had to fight for their lives.

Would Close Hostelry

New York.—Assistant United States Attorney Lyman H. Ward announced he will seek an injunction to close for one year the Ritz Carlton Hotel, a world-famed establishment, on the ground that this hostelry is a common "nuisance."

Trade Pact With Belgium

Ottawa.—The Senate gave consideration of the trade convention between Canada and Belgium. This convention was adopted and received its third reading.

Valera Is Set Free

London.—Ramón de Valera and Austin Stack, Irish Republican leaders, were released from prison by the Free State Government, according to a News Agency despatch from Dublin.

Crow's Nest Pass Agreement Is Cause Of Complaints

Ottawa, Ont.—The Railway Commission soon will need to be looking into the general question of discrimination arising out of the coming into effect of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement. At least two forms of discrimination are already claimed. One is from eastern firms complaining of wild disparities between different points in their territory on shipments to the west, while another arises from the position of the Canadian Pacific Railway that on lines in the west, constructed subsequently to the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, complaints are piling up.

Discuss H. B. Road

Ottawa.—Arguments for and against completion of the Hudson's Bay Railway occupied the attention of the House of Commons.

On a Government motion to go into supply, Mr. Knox moved that the failure to complete the railway had resulted in a serious loss to Western Canada. Justification of the building of a railway to Port Nelson and the establishment of a terminus at that point were urged by Mr. Knox, and endorsed by Rev. T. W. Eld (Progressive, Nelson, Manitoba) who said that the Government ought to defend its attitude in the Hudson's Bay route. The element of doubt and suspense which the Government had permitted to creep into the Hudson's Bay controversy he thought more formidable than the biggest iceberg that ever floated in the Hudson's Bay. Canada wanted to know whether, or not, and when, this Hudson's Bay Railway would be completed.

Sir Henry Drayton (Conservative, West York) spoke at some length on the question. If he thought the project was feasible, he would be the first to advocate it. But there should be the most searching investigation before any commitment was made.

Egyptian Agitator Held Under Arrest

Was Formerly Professor of Arabic at Oxford University

London.—The arrest of Sheikh Shavish, nationalist agitator at Cairo, in connection with the recent attempt on Premier Zaglou's life has attracted some attention here as Shavish was formerly a professor of Arabic at Oxford University and was known as a brilliant scholar and writer. Notwithstanding his past associations in England, however, he was notorious, according to the Daily Mail, for his rabid hatred of the British people, and his writings in the Egyptian press were marked with such extreme venom and vindictiveness that many of his supporters were alienated.

New Grain Shipping Scheme

Edmonton, Alta.—Full particulars about the new grain shipping scheme that Hon. George Hoadley brought back with him from England were reported by the minister to H. W. Wood, chairman of the Alberta Wheat Pool. Involved in this scheme is a system of grain storage in government elevators in England, and wheat from Alberta, shipped via the Panama Canal, will be especially considered.

Ontario to Vote on Liquor Issue

Toronto.—Ontario citizens will pass upon the liquor issue on Thursday, October 23 next. Decision to hold a plebiscite upon that date has been reached by the Government, and represents fulfillment of Premier Ferguson's election time pledge of a vote for the people "if and when public opinion demands it."

WILL CONFER WITH PROVINCES ON PENSION PLAN

Ottawa.—A reference to the Supreme Court to settle an opinion as to whether the Dominion or the provinces have jurisdiction in regard to the eight-hour day was recommended to the House of Commons by the select committee on industrial and international relations in its second and final report.

The report was made as the result of an investigation in the committee of the jurisdiction of the Federal and Provincial Parliaments in regard to the draft convention passed at the Washington conference in regard to the eight-hour day on industrial undertakings.

The Dominion Government will communicate with the provinces during the coming years in regard to the establishment of a system of old age pensions. Premier King stated in the House. He said he understood the old age pensions committee's report contemplated a co-operative action between the provinces and the Dominion providing for a pension of $20 a month, of which half is to be contributed by the province in which the pensioner resides.

The Premier again was unable to give a definite reply as to the fate of the alternative vote bill.

Canada has been invited to attend a conference late this year to discuss later-imperial relations with the British Government and other Dominions, the Premier announced.

Montreal Still Leads

Reported Record of Grain Exports Well Ahead of Vancouver

Montreal.—Vancouver has not yet outdistanced Montreal in the matter of grain exports, as was recently stated in a despatch from Ottawa. On the contrary, Montreal retains her position as the premier grain shipping port of this continent. During the ten months ended June 30, 1924, Vancouver shipped out 58,950 bushels of wheat, according to the despatch. Montreal, during the same period, shipped out 61,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, or a total of 78,000,000 bushels of all grains, notwithstanding that the period under review embraced 876 months during which the port of Montreal was closed by ice.

Otto Von Bismarck In Airplane Crash

Machine Was Smeared But Prince Not Seriously Injured

Berlin, Germany.—Prince Otto Von Bismarck, grandson of the former Chancellor, and recently elected to the Reichstag, crashed in an airplane while on his way from Berlin to Nuremberg, where he intended to attend an aviators' meeting, according to word received from Bamberg. The Prince, who is an experienced flyer, having served in the aviation corps during the war, was not seriously injured, but abandoned the trip. The machine was smashed.

Vancouver.—Mrs. Winifred Mahon, factory inspector for the minimum wage board and for several years a well known labor leader, died here following a brief illness. For three years she was President of Vancouver Garment Workers' Union.

A steady increase in the volume of wheat exports from Canada is noted in the monthly statement issued by the Bureau of Statistics. In April, 1924, 5,065,465 bushels in all were exported, as against 5,142,304 in April, 1923. Included in these figures are 32,805 bushels sent to the United States, 2,972,469 to the United Kingdom and 2,060,191 to other countries.

Approximately 80 per cent of Manitoba's wheat acreage has been seeded, despite the general lateness of work on the land occasioned by unfavorable spring weather. Practically every district correspondent reports a reduction in the wheat acreage, with corresponding indications that barley and flax acreage, in particular, will be increased.

Alberta provided the bulk of the wool sold by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association last year, 1,008,018 pounds, of the total of 2,843,365 pounds of the 1923 clip, coming from this province, according to a statement made by the general manager of the Association. Ontario growers took second place, with 680,078 pounds, followed by Manitoba-Saskatchewan, 459,583 pounds. Sundry shipments totalled $46,599 pounds.

The value of the building permits issued in 50 Canadian cities showed a large increase during April, as compared with March, 1924. Representative cities authorized buildings to the value of $12,429,200, as compared with $9,182,763 in the previous month. Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and New Brunswick registered increases in the value of building permits issued.

Except in sheep, Canadian livestock and livestock products show an increase in shipments to the United States all along the line in the January-February period of this year, compared with the corresponding months of last year. Cattle shipments in the period were 11,190, compared with 10,210; beef 928,490 lbs., compared with 446,800 lbs.; bacon 61,700 lbs., compared with 30,100 lbs.; pork, 145,300 lbs., compared with 50,200 lbs.; and mutton 2,400 lbs., compared with 700 lbs.

The first annual pow-wow of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, which will be held July 17-18 at Yoho, will take place in a big run-dance lodge decorated by Stoney Indians. The order aims to encourage travel through the Canadian Rockies, outdoor life, nature study, and "forest conservation," and to honor early explorers. Many noted authors and artists have joined and E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has donated $1,000 towards expenses.

The Canadian Pacific S.S. "Empress of Canada" arrived at Vancouver, B.C., on May 24th, following a world cruise of five months and nearly 30,000 miles. The passengers witnessed a remarkable eruption at Hilo, in the Hawaiian Islands, on May 17th. After a public welcome at Vancouver, they left for the East, stopping en route at Banff Springs Hotel for a dinner. E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific, who met the ship, said that she had done important missionary work in carrying the Canadian Ensign over the Seven Seas.

Arrangements are well under way for entertaining the members and friends of the Canadian Teachers' Federation during their trans-Canadian tour, which will take place August 4th-12th over the main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in a train specially provided for their accommodation. Fort William, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Edmonton, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver and Victoria are all planning festivities. The Canadian Pacific is preparing to give the teachers a royal time at their beautiful Rocky Mountain resorts and the people of Victoria, where the subsequent convention will be held, will also help to make their stay in that city a memorable one.

Visiting Sailors Tour Canadian Rockies

Above, some of the sailors are here seen at Banff grouped around the huge Canadian Pacific oil-burning locomotive which headed them through the Rockies. Inset—Percival at Revelstoke.

Through the courtesy of the Dominion Government twenty-five officers and two hundred and twenty men of the British Service Squadron on tour were given from Vancouver through the Rocky Mountains as far as Calgary by special Canadian Pacific train, returning by way of Edmonton. The men were selected from the Flag Ship R.M.S. Hood, H.M.S. Repulse and, H.M.S. Adelaide. All through the mountains the train was given most enthusiastic receptions from people lining the stations wherever it stopped and shouting their greetings from the smaller ones as it passed. During a stop of two hours at Revelstoke the entire crowd was taken to the top of Mount Revelstoke in automobiles. As Field it seemed impossible to get the train away, so anxious were the people to heap flowers and congratulations on the men. Banff citizens met them with automobiles and showed them around at night on arrival and again in the morning when they visited the bathing pools. The reception at Calgary was equal to that accorded the visiting sailors all along the line, and all day they were entertained at receptions and banquets, closing the day with a ball at the Palliser Hotel for the officers and a smoker at the armoury for the men. Throughout the trip the sailors were as busy photographing as being photographed. All of them have travelled far and viewed the scenery of many lands, but they are unanimous in the opinion that the beauty of the Rockies—Banff National Park, Albert Canyon and so on, is superior and more grand by far than anything else they have seen.

MUDDY CREEK BOTTOM BECOMES BEAUTY SPOT

An object lesson in reclamation is provided by the present Canadian National station grounds at Vancouver, B.C. Before the site was developed the location was known as Muddy Creek, a muddy stream in the centre of the city over which the tide water of the bay backed. It is now one of the beauty spots of the City of the Lions. The approach to the station is called Thornton Park, in honor of Sir Henry W. Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, who materially assisted the Parks Commissioners by contributing 19,000 yards of earth for the filling and beautification of the grounds. Work on the park area is not yet completed but when finished it will be one of the most attractive railway terminals on the continent. At present thousands of flowers are bursting into bloom and many hundreds of beautiful shrubs in their attractive foliage add their charm.

Sporting Notes.

The Regulars and Eric's Scrubs played another ball game on the local grounds on Friday night. The Regulars had been reinforced by the addition of several good players, but to no purpose, as the Scrubs won again, 5 runs to 4 runs.

The ball game between Muir Lake and Calahoo, on the 13th, was a batting festival for both sides, the score standing at the end of the 9th inning 19 for the former, and 24 for the latter. The players were all so tired, they had to be taken home in cars.

The Sports Day at Duffield last week turned out to be a very successful affair with a large attendance present. The various events, horse races, ball games and foot races were well contested and proved very interesting.

Duffield ball team played the local aggregation Sunday, in Stony. The team from the west are pretty nifty fielders, and this helped them some, as the localites had their batting tags on, including Home Run Graden, who made his usual round of the bases for a homer, much to the delight of the fans. Mr Coats did not umpire on this occasion, consequently the Stoneyites had only the players to back. This was a League game, and puts McCulla's bunch fairly well up in the race for the Cup, if they can secure an even break for the balance of the games they will play. Score: Stony 11, Duffield 8.

Stony's line-up: G Graden, Loehlich, McCulla, Steckle, J. Sheppard, Chesser, Zucht, Schlitt, Moyer, Umpire, J. Robbins.

Muir Lake ball players did not put in an appearance on the 20th, when they were billed to meet Eric's Pets on the local grounds.
